

HAHNEMANN

DR. G. C. NANDI, M.B., F.R.C.O.G. (Lond.), Calcutta

Hahnemann was a German ;
He was no filmstar, nor a funnyman
Tickling the humour of the hilarious crowd
Nor a winner of the sporting or political bout,
Yet his name is on every body's lips
His message is, ever, for the keeps—
His newer message for the good of mankind
That his genius and his philosophy could find.
His revolutionary theory of Similia Similibus Curantur
Has let the new light of knowledge enter
The minds of the baffled healers of the day ;
While the leaders of the profession fought at bay.
The cult of Homœopathy gathered global momentum
Till two centuries carried its laurels ad infinitum,
